MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF JUDGE

The Royal Queensland Awards are an integral part of the capital city wine show circuit. As the first show of the year, it provided an opportune time to have your recently bottled 2024 wines assessed. These shows have helped define and refine Australian winemaking and wine styles for 148 years, and I believe they have a bright future in continuing to do so. This I feel is vitally important in what is a particularly challenging period within our industry. Australian wine must stand for quality, diversity and regionality which is something that the RQA strive to award and help refine.

In my first year as Chair of the RQA, I felt incredibly humbled and honoured to hold such an important role in this process. I was also hugely excited to lead an excellent and diverse panel of experienced judges to assess and award the entries.

They hailed from across the country and represented many facets of the wine world, including winemakers, sommeliers, restaurateurs, retailers, journalists, and educators. This diversity of experience cast a wide net to uncover the very best wines across the full spectrum of styles.

With the challenges facing our industry and a strong focus on encouraging entries from all corners of the Australian wine world, we made the decision not to increase entry fees this year.

We also introduced exciting new classes—Low-Alcohol and De-alcoholised—to support and encourage excellence in this growing segment.

In addition, the RQA has partnered with several leading Queensland bottle shops to promote the results of the 2025 Awards to local wine-loving consumers—an important initiative, as the outstanding wines recognised through such a rigorous process deserve to be celebrated and made accessible.

I am proud to celebrate the best our amazing industry has to offer. Thank you to all who entered this year.

Julian Langworthy

MESSAGE FROM THE COMMITTEE CHAIR

Our mission at the Royal Queensland Awards has always been to champion the Australian wine industry by facilitating rigorous peer assessment and providing meaningful feedback on all wines entered.

This year's judging was conducted through the lens of the Queensland market, with leading local sommeliers forming an integral part of our judging team. We were thrilled to welcome Julian Langworthy as Chief Judge in 2025. Julian brought his deep expertise and exceptional leadership to the role, having previously served as a panel chair at our awards in 2021, 2023, and 2024.

The results were announced via media release and online video announcements on Thursday 10 July 2025. Within two weeks of the announcement, exhibitors will receive statistical analysis of each wine's performance within its class, along with written feedback from the panel chair.

In my first year as Chair of the Royal Queensland Wine Awards Committee, I wish to acknowledge the strategic vision and significant contributions of my predecessor, Angus Adnam. Since taking on the role in 2012, Angus led transformative reforms—appointing a new Chief Judge, PJ Charteris, and empowering him and successive chief judges to build judging teams that reflect the broad and emerging demographics of the Australian wine industry. He also implemented a strict judge rotation policy that has kept our awards dynamic and relevant, and he spearheaded the development of our signature consumer event, Grape Grazing by Night.

Angus continues to serve on our advisory group alongside Penny Grant, Elaine Miller, Tess Carmody, Tyson Stelzer, Dave Brookes and Rod Wellings. I sincerely thank each of them for their insights and contributions in ensuring our awards continue to deliver meaningful value to exhibitors.

JUDGES

ANDRE BONDAR - SA

I am currently owner, grape grower and winemaker of my own wine business, Bondar Wines. We are based in McLaren Vale and source grapes mainly from our own vineyard, known as the Rayner vineyard. I began this adventure in 2014 with my wife Selina after ten years of wine making experience with other brands, mostly in the Adelaide Hills but also around the world (USA, France). ANDREW QUIN - SA

Andrew's journey to winemaking started unknowingly in his Nan's garden as a young boy. This interest in gardens learnt in those early years led Andrew to the study of horticulture then eventually viticulture and winemaking.

After consolidating his university knowledge in wineries in Victoria and Sonoma, California, Andrew mixed travelling and working in the French region of Languedoc.

A combination of an expiring work visa, a lingering travel bug, and an offer of a vintage winemaking position, lured Andrew to the Barossa Valley. A fateful visit to the Hentley Farm vineyard in July 2008, gave Andrew the opportunity to take on the chief winemaking role for the growing brand. Given the creative opportunity and quality fruit, he has helped Hentley Farm to be identified as a renowned, premium Australian Wine brand.

Following his Winemaking degree, from Adelaide University, Brendan honed his craft through various vintages across Australia, New Zealand, and the United States before joining Yering Station in 2008. Rising through the ranks, he assumed the role of chief winemaker in 2020, committed to upholding Yering Station's tradition of excellence and innovation. Despite a brief hiatus for international travel, Brendan's strong ties to Melbourne and the Yarra Valley have anchored him at Yering Station, where he strives to produce wines that authentically reflect the region's terroir, emphasizing elegance and the purity of fruit.

During the COVID-19 pandemic, I relocated with my family to the Northern Rivers, continuing with the Fink Group as Operations Manager and General Manager at Beach Byron Bay.
